THE CHURCH PAPER.

The Anglican Church Chronicle for December announces the retirement of Rev. Geo. Wallace from the associate editorship. Henceforth Rev. Alex. Mackintosh conducts the paper single-handed. An article headed, "Our Intentions," forcibly reminds Churchmen of their solemn obligations and responsibilities. "A Friendly Warning" is directed to young Hawaiians, in connection with the elevation of one of them to the position of Attorney General. They are told, "You have a grand object before you which ought to incite you to the utmost; to erect a suitable monument to your late sovereign and friend the lamented Queen Emma." There is a continuation of "Our Pilgrimage" from the graphic pen of Capt. Luce, taking the reader over some of the prettiest spots in England. In an article on "Friendly Societies," the editor speaks of the retirement of Excelsior Lodge, I. O. O. F., to Charleston, and speaks of benevolent societies as "handmaids of the church," relieving it "of the duty of serving tables." A note on the King's Jubilee concludes, "We should have been more confident in the ultimate good to the nation, had a solemn thanksgiving for past mercies been proclaimed, and prayer for future blessings been offered up throughout the land." The Church news at home and abroad is furnished in good measure, and there are educational, miscellaneous and literary departments, all containing edifying and attractive matter. "A Hymn for the Jubilee"—Queen Victoria's—by Canon Baynes, M. A., makes a fine ending to a very interesting number of this periodical.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The voice of the croaker is the mildest of the community.

All kinds of people do not make a world, or Honolulu would be revolving on its own axis, and wanting a sun, moon, north and south poles and an eastern question all for itself.

The California "American" party, judging by the appeal it has sent to New York, is just as patriotic and just as sensible as the Know-nothing Hawaiian party in this country.

Marshal Kaulukou makes frequent rounds of the city at night, to see that the police are all at their posts. If his enthusiastic devotion be kept up permanently, much improvement may be expected in the force.

The California Silk Growers' Association employs instructors in silk production. There seems to have come a total damper on the interest aroused about a year ago in this country with regard to silk culture. What have become of all the silkworm eggs and mulberry plants ordered from abroad?

Streets, sidewalks, lights—almost everything indeed that the Government is responsible for—are in unfavorable contrast to the growth and solid improvement of Honolulu due to private enterprise. It is a wonder property owners can tolerate such a state of affairs when they know that they pay the Government for something better.

For all it costs, Smith's Planetary Almanac, advertised in this paper, should be obtained by everybody who has a garden, field or plantation, and tests made during next year of the theory of "Lunar Influence on Vegetation." Agriculturists in many different parts of North America have testified strongly after full experiment in favor of the theory. It would be fine if Hawaiian moonlight could be turned into gold by a receipt costing only "two bits."

Who makes but one mosquito sing where two sang before is a benefactor to the community. The vicious wretches seem to have multiplied a million-fold since the rains.

The deputy chuckers out were busy for a while on Saturday night.

The Kinau leaves on her Volcano trip this evening.
